

COL. W. F. CODY (BUFFALO BILL), ONE OF THE FEW REMAINING GREAT SCOUTS OF THE INDIAN WAR PERIOD.

THE SALVATION ARMY BLOCK

Permanent Headquarters Building Proposed for the Islands.

Col. Miles of the Salvation Army returned from an inspection of Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, and this week has been devoting his attention to going over the accounts of the Army post, inspecting its halls, Rescue Home and general conditions. He finds everything satisfactory, but as the work is increasing he intends on arrival at San Francisco to strengthen the forces in all the islands. This is a matter which will take time and the financial side of it will have to be well considered.

The new Rescue Home is a matter in which Col. Miles takes much pride. He is proud of the work done by the present Rescue Home with its limited accommodations and finances, and looks forward with interest to the establishment of the new home. He states that $11,000 of the necessary $15,000 have already been raised and he believes the remaining $4000 will be had without difficulty. The Army has a piece of land in Manoa valley, admirably suited for the purpose of the Home, where the children will have healthful surroundings.

In addition to the Rescue Home work, there is another item of importance which the Colonel will work on diligently. That is a headquarters building, a permanent structure, owned by the Army, to house a soldiers and sailors' home, divisional offices, Sunday school room, and auditorium with a capacity for at least 400 persons. It will also have to contain officers' quarters, and training quarters.

"The Army has been engaged in work in these islands for the past thirteen or fourteen years," said the Colonel yesterday, "and we need a permanent headquarters building. From all I see and hear the Army has done good work here and it has come to stay. It is enlarging its field of operations and its work should be directed from a building of its own."

"You will have a lot of soldiers and sailors coming down here in the future and we, as well as others, have to be prepared to meet them. I intend that the Army force in the islands shall be strengthened. I am going to consider the district nurse proposition for the country, so that a Salvation Army nurse can visit the people, the plantations and the country sections around them. I have been instructing my officers in first aid work, and district nursing will also be made a course of study for some of the officers. Our work will be to show the people how to live in healthful ways."

"I am delighted with the Islands. I am grateful to the people wherever I have gone for their helpfulness. I have been very much impressed with the uniform kindness of the public. I have never been so kindly received anywhere else in the world. I am especially grateful to the Hawaiian Board."

his ambition to own a red cap by having to advertise the groceries of Hackfeld & Co. as the best and cheapest, while Roscoe Perkins got writer's cramp by having to curl up in a toy automobile, of "one mule power," drawn by a fellow victim, who did not require to be cranked.

Candidate Captain Kidwell was labeled "a pineapple that has gone to seed" and J. L. Young exhibited with the air of a near-Edison, a "plan of Fort Shafter, as I designed it."

The procession was brought up by a chemical engine and hose wagon, the magnificent horses in two teams being admired by many who had never before seen the animals going slow enough to look at.

The parade formed at the K. P. hall about two o'clock, marched to the Capitol by way of Fort and King streets and swung into the Capitol grounds. Here, massed in a brilliant group on the front steps of the building, an official and a score of unofficial photographs were taken. Then the parade wound its way back to the K. P. hall and what followed is shrouded in mystery. The shrieks of the victims were masked by the explosion of thousands of fire crackers and the dead were cast into the subterranean vaults.

A grand banquet last night at which the sore in body but triumphant in spirit twenty-nine drowned their woes in anointed zem-zem, brought the annual Shrine gathering to a successful finish.

Our Pilgrim Fathers entered into their Thanksgiving Festivities with a devout spirit and a deep appreciation of their material blessings.

A few Wild Turkeys and a scant supply of maize was a Feast to them. One must have something more elaborate now-a-days.

OSTEOPATHY

MEANS that system of healing which treats diseases of the human body by the stimulation of the remedial and resisting forces within the body itself. While no drugs are administered by the osteopathic physician, the chemical constituents of the various fruits and vegetables are carefully considered in his dietetic directions.
